Lotus Sanitizing System

Just in time for summer, the new sanitizing system lets you turn on your faucet and treat your home to an effective sanitizer that safely wipes out germs, odours, stains, mould, mildew and pesticides -- all without chemicals.

Lotus turns your ordinary tap water into a powerful sanitizer in about two minutes, for a fraction of a penny. Studies have shown that ozone is 50-per-cent more powerful and more than 3,000 times faster acting on bacteria than chlorine -- at 100 times the strength.

Water treated with this system will kill 99.9 per cent of germs on any surface it contacts. Use it to clean countertops, appliances, floors, high chairs and other baby items, upholstery, windows, cutting boards, and any surface that attracts mold or mildew.

Even carpet and laundry stains -- including red wine and pet stains -- are easy to remove, with no harsh fumes or residue. Lotus also eliminates germs and pesticides from your food. It even extends the shelf life of fruit and produce up to four times longer than if they've been rinsed with tap water. System includes a base unit, multi-purpose bowl with lid, trigger spray bottle, two microfibre cloths and a booster cartridge.

Just in time for summer, the new Selphy photo printer from Canon Canada is lightweight, sporty and perfect for documenting all your summer snapshots.

The Selphy CP770 comes with a built-in handy bucket design, making it beach-ready and ideal for toting all your photo supplies, and with the IrSimple feature -- a high-speed infrared wireless communications standard -- wirelessly print snapshots from mobile phones, PDAs or other digital devices. It has a 2.5-inch HD LCD monitor to preview images before printing. The unique design is the first of its kind, and allows consumers to tote the printer virtually anywhere they need to go: recreation properties, birthday parties, wedding showers or a scrapbooking get-together. Available in apricot and crisp white. The optional Canon NB-CP2 battery pack makes it easier than ever to print photos while on the road or camping. Go to www.canon.ca
